

Blenheim Skirting Boards

These colonial profiles are not simply for Blenheim Skirting Board times! They are used in modern housing construction and the ultra modern apartments you might see being decorated in the city centres such as London for the discerning interior design freak looking for something that looks great, has a hint of tradition to it, but also looks modern and passes for an attractive moulding to finish off the decorating in the home. We've also sold them to a host of building companies and childrens homes as a 'nice' profile. Take a look;